

Had It All

Jazzy abstract start-Nick introduces guitar motif-band jams this with Andy noodling - Nick sings

She saw him at the angel because she came to hear him sing Then they caught the train to Chinatown and they did some crazy Things
And then they had all, had all the time.

They had a little whiskey and they had a little wine they smoked a little weed until he couldn't walk the line
And they had all had it all time.

(Chorus)

Instrumental verse & chorus Andy Solo

He went to see the doctor the diagnosis it was bleak
She gave him 15 valium said I'll see you in a week
But then he had it all had all the time.

(Chorus)

Instrumental chorus Jez solos

He lays awake for hours and then he cries himself to sleep He prays for some salvation for the secrets that he keeps because he had all, had all the time.

So now the parties nearly over he just didn't see the signs And there's no light on the horizon no solution he could find because he had it all, had all the time (chorus - chorus- long chorus to end)
